

Award Winning Author

Alan Fadling

Alan Fadling (M. Div., Fuller Theological Seminary) is President and Founder of Unhurried Living, Inc., inspiring people to rest deeper, live fuller and lead better.

Alan encourages leaders to see that great leadership begins on the inside--in the soul. He shows leaders how to get perspective so their leadership flows from a full soul and out of healthy rhythms of rest and work. He helps leaders rediscover the genius of Jesus' unhurried way of living and leading.

He speaks to leaders nationally with organizations such as Saddleback Church, InterVarsity Christian Fellowship, Cru, Halftime Institute, Apprentice Institute and Open Doors International. Alan travels internationally to encourage and train leaders in the Dominican Republic, Nigeria, Kenya, Rwanda, Russia, and India.

He is the award-winning author of An Unhurried Life (IVP 2013), honored with a Christianity Today Award of Merit in spirituality, and a contributing author to Eternal Living: Reflections on Dallas Willard's Teaching on Faith and Formation (IVP 2015). His next book, An Unhurried Leader (IVP 2017) will release June 2017. He is a certified spiritual director.

How Alan Can Serve You and Your Organization

Speak at a Conference, Retreat or Church Service

Alan enjoys speaking on themes from his award-winning book, An Unhurried Life, such as unhurried life with God, in community, in leadership development, in solitude, silence and prayer, and in connecting suffering with maturing. From his forthcoming book, An Unhurried Leader, he enjoys speaking on the themes of leading from overflow, working and leading with God, grace-empowered leadership, leadership vision. He also addresses the intersection between personal spiritual formation and fruitful leadership engagement. People leave these gatherings inspired, encouraged and energized for their life and work with God.

Lead Strategic Planning Meetings or Retreats

Alan consults with groups of leaders to develop a way of planning and strategizing well-rooted in deep intimacy with God. Incorporate a “seek the kingdom first” approach to planning. Learn to plan events from a center of listening to God and seeing people through His eyes. Learning these patterns contributes to the sustainability of your leadership, and can produce “much fruit that lasts (Jn 15:16).” Consultations can be one-time or a series of meetings over time. Leaders have reported leaving these consultations more united, creative, rested, encouraged and energized for their work ahead.

Guide a Retreat

Whether meeting on-site or away at a retreat center, Alan leads retreats that provide space to encounter God alone as well as in community. Alan will give input to the framing of the retreat schedule. Retreat content is interactive and transformational. People report these retreats lead to deep rest, refreshment and restoration, as well as to richer and more fruitful work.

Lead a Training Day for a Leadership Community

Gather leaders from every level of your organization for a day or more of training. Alan blends teaching, personal discovery, small group interaction, and large group debriefing to create a dynamic learning environment. Leaders experience a vision for a less anxious and more hopeful, trusting way of working with Jesus in their areas of responsibility. Alan has met with groups of 20 to 200 leaders with organizations like InterVarsity Christian Fellowship, Cru, World Impact, Open Doors, and others.
